We know the quality of our service is unrivalled; we are unique in our commitment to professionalism - it permeates each and every function of our business. All activities are tested. Outcomes are measured for potential enhancement - best practice underpins every action, every system.

Our dedication to our markets is total. Extensive networking, through personal connections, advertising, PR, exhibitions and associations has established unprecedented market knowledge. Our commitment is further demonstrated through University Partnerships and other initiatives.

Quality driven enterprise and best practice have earned the team the coveted Department of Trade and Industry 'World Class Company' status.

Our clients reap the benefits.

Our ability to identify, attract and retain the best consultants in the business is central to our exceptional service levels.

We select highly motivated, dynamic individuals, demonstrating intelligence and energy, together with flexibility and integrity.

Innovative professionals - experts in their fields.

We provide an environment to encourage excellence, investing in their development, sponsoring onward training - making them stakeholders in SSR[®]. The resultant retention record is outstanding in the recruitment industry, thereby securing continuity of quality service for our clients.

Our consultants take responsibility - they only have time for excellence. The result for clients is an exceptional number of candidates who are right first time, with measurable cost and time savings.

"Our long term relationship with SSR is built on mutual trust, their commitment to consistency and outstanding results."

"They established a strategic partnership with us - we trusted them with our resource management, and they accepted the responsibilities in full."

"Their Account Managers, who already had a deep understanding of our market, took time to understand our specific requirements and culture, advising on salary levels, candidate availability, best practice, timing and more.

"They made full use of emerging technologies, having even developed their own Advanced Internet Solution to ensure that the potential of the internet was fully exploited."

"They provided a tailored service with the attention to detail that is essential to produce the ideal business solution, at the speed we needed."

"SSR[®]'s services were provided with drive and commitment - implementation was smooth, unintrusive and highly cost effective."
